General Information:

In the 1950s, the MV AGUSTA group of companies was in a stable economic position. On the one hand, American Bell helicopters were being built under licence, and on the other, demand for motorcycles was comparatively high. With this foundation, the engineers were able to develop racing machines. A whole series of prototypes were built. Our Disco Volante is largely in its original condition. Only the seat had to be replaced. With a weight of around 103 kg and a 4-speed gearbox, the CS reaches 115 km/h. Our flying saucer runs very nicely.
